Ottawa, ON – February 17, 2010 --- Furthering its strategy of delivering world-class solutions in the Machine 2 Machine (M2M) market space, Mr. Matt Dumais, President of Novotech Technologies Corp., announced today that Novotech has agreed to acquire wireless data solutions experts, MobileForce Solutions. This acquisition combines Novotech's industry-leading portfolio of industrial and embedded modems and ancillary products with the complementary suite of wireless data services offered by MobileForce Solutions to Carriers, Dealers, OEM's and System Integrators. The increased leveraging of the M2M market space created by this acquisition will serve to fuel future growth, and result in enhanced support and choice for Novotech's customers.

"MobileForce's solutions and services and Novotech's M2M distribution abilities have proven to be a compelling complement in the M2M market. Customers implementing or delivering M2M solutions will now benefit more from our combined innovation and expertise in bringing cost effective and timely projects to market. We're very pleased to welcome Larry to the management team," Dumais said.

MobileForce Solutions Limited is a Calgary based Wireless Data Solutions and Consulting Services Company. Founder and President, Mr. Larry Bellehumeur will be joining the Novotech Board of Directors. "When MobileForce was first created, one of our core principles was that we provided Industry leading Service and Mobile Solutions to our customer base," said Bellehumeur. "By aligning with Novotech, who has a well established Sales and Distribution network, we are able to build on that principle to create a true Industry leader in the M2M space, one that is able to provide a complete One-Stop shop experience for Customers, Cellular Carriers and Integrators.”

About MobileForce Solutions: MobileForce was formed in 2009 to fill a strong need in the Canadian wireless space, namely the ability for one company to offer a wide variety of wireless data solutions and consulting services to specifically meet customer’s needs, along with cellular carriers and wireless vendors. It was created on the principal that even in the age of “canned” solutions, very few solutions can be deployed without specialized expertise for a trouble-free deployment. MobileForce is further based on the idea that virtually every company can benefit from some sort of Wireless Data Solution deployment. With over a decade of experience specifically dedicated to the field of cellular wireless data deployments and an industry-leading selection of contacts at all key players in the Canadian wireless space, MobileForce is able to provide a Solution for all wireless data needs.
