Vistabay has one of the highest drug addiction recovery success rates in the United States. Success is measured by clients that complete the program and remain drug free. Vistabay Rehab proudly boasts that 76% of their clients are still drug and alcohol-free a year after completion of the program. The average success rate is 20%. This phenomenal achievement is due to the avant-garde approach the program utilizes in addressing addictions. This forward-thinking methodology is based on a holistic approach that is extremely thorough and comprehensive. The Vistabay drug rehab program treats each client as an individual with unique and varied needs. As such, every aspect of the person is cared for and supported.

March, 2010 – Vistabay Rehab provides treatment for both street drug addiction and prescription drug addiction. Success of such programs is measured according to the number of clients that complete the program and remain drug free for a period of time. Seventy-six percent of Vistabay clients are still drug-free after a full year following completion of the program. This far surpasses the average success rate of 20%. The innovative approach applied by the program is credited with this extraordinary success rate. Vistabay drug rehab is based on a thorough and comprehensive methodology that utilizes a holistic approach.

The holistic addresses each individual client as a whole being. This means that the body, mind, and spirit of the individual is considered. Thus the philosophy of Vistabay drug rehab is such that the clients are rehabilitated completely. This will include a focus on every aspect and the rehab is physical, mental, social and even spiritual in nature. Because Vistabay Rehab addresses each aspect of a client he or she is afforded a comprehensive recovery. This results in the client being better prepared to function in a healthy manner and re-enter society with the necessary tools to remain free from relapse.
